2023-2025 Title III Immigrant Influx Allocations

In accordance with Title III, Sec. 3114(d)(2), the IDOE provides a portion of the state Title III appropriation to support schools and districts that have experienced a significant influx of immigrant students. A local education agency is considered to have had a significant immigrant influx if it has experienced an increase of at least 50 immigrant students over the average immigrant population of the two preceding years, representing an increase in immigrant student population of at least 30%. Any local education agency (LEA) meeting these criteria is eligible to receive the Title III Immigrant Influx subgrant.
